Mandated Reporting

In California, health care providers must report current injuries that result from domestic violence to the police, even if the victim does not want to make a report.

Reports must be made to the Department of Children & Family Services if children witness domestic violence. If the patient is over 65 or is a dependent adult, file an Adult Protective Services report. For more information see the "Mandated Reporting" section on www.endabuselb.org

PHYSICAL SIGNS & SYMPTOMS

- Injuries to head and neck.
- Multiple or repeated injuries or bruising at different stages of healing.
- Vague complaints about headaches or stomach pains.
- Intentional injuries to breast, abdomen, or genitals.
- Miscarriage or any injury during pregnancy; repeated STDs.

BEHAVIORAL SIGNS & SYMPTOMS

- Delay in seeking medical care & seeks care in different facilities.
- Explanations inconsistent with the nature of the injury.
- Partner refuses to allow woman to be alone during examination.
- Extreme fear, discomfort or trauma during gynecological exams.

Intimate Partner Violence: Guidelines for Providers

Domestic/Intimate Violence is the most common cause of injury to women in the United States.

As a health care provider, YOU can help save a woman's life by knowing the signs and symptoms of domestic violence and by practicing appropriate screening and referral procedures. Start by establishing a private setting (interview the patient alone).

Discuss the limits of confidentiality.

Use direct questions:

"Because violence is common in many of my patients' lives, I ask all of my patients..."

- Has anyone ever hit you, hurt you, or threatened you?
- Does your partner make you feel afraid?
- Have you ever been forced to have sex when you didn't want to?
- How does your partner treat you? What happens when you disagree?

Respect a patient's decision to disclose or not.

If you get a positive answer:

- Give positive messages of support
 - You are not alone
 - You don't deserve this
 - You are not to blame
- Assess immediate danger
 - Ask "are you afraid to go home today?"
 - Determine if the perpetrator is with them
- Assess for safety of children in the home
- Assess for risk of lethality
 - Threats of homicide
 - Involvement of weapons
 - Suicidality/homicidality of victim and perpetrator
 - History of strangulation/stalking

Intervention Strategies:

- Offer crisis support numbers
- Repeat messages of support
 - I'm glad you talked to me
 - You deserve respect
 - I'm concerned about your safety
- Prepare a safety plan (hotline staff can help)
- Inform the patient about the different services available (counseling, legal assistance, shelter, police reports)
- Arrange for a follow up visit
